Hi Tim,

I can determine by the "structure" representation provided that this is NOT a chemical included in our procurements since it is a polymer, i.e. it could include many distinct polymeric structures within the Markush definition. I have, however, updated our DSSTox record for this CAS to reflect what is known about the structure and we will check to confirm that the structure representation is correct in SciFinder. From a structure point of view for testing and read-

Andy,

Ann, are there any plans to include this chemical in testing?
